Supported by:

The FNTMP is a mentoring program for First Nations tourism businesses across Australia running until June 2025.

It provides First Nations tourism businesses with access to free one-on-one support and advice from experienced tourism industry professionals.

Businesses can access support from one of 21 place-based mentors (all are tourism experts) engaged across Australia.

Eligibility criteria:

The FNTMP is for businesses that are:

- 50 per cent or more First Nations owned
- Operating in the tourism sector or associated supply chain e.g. cafes and restaurants, accommodation providers, etc.
- 'Semi mature' – that is, businesses are active and currently in operation and have products/services which are or can be made available to domestic or international visitors.
